ST. ^{AW 2019/20} ELSEWHERE

Welcome to St. Elsewhere

We would like to remind you that security clearance is required.

An unscripted meet cute between ultra-high technology and dreamy surrealism, AW 2019/20 catwalks will play out before our eyes like an eerily enchanting, slightly kaleidoscopic motion picture (that could be) about any culture in any decade. Which is to say this season will be heavily characterized by apparent contrasts, especially that of the hi-lo. With the development and popularization of alternative materials, we'll see structured futuristic fabrics adorned with attention-grabbing romantic, even Baroque-inspired embellishments that likewise artfully employ negative space.

Set in a remotely located, top secret research facility, our AW 2019/20 campaign draws inspiration from the technology that created it. As the line between virtual and reality continues to blur, we are constantly reminded of our all too startling ability to turn the former into the latter. Cryptically, an intentionally unspecified location, St. Elsewhere takes us to a make-believe crystal testing site, where an unidentified host is exploring the institutes latest prototypes and synthetically cultivated zircons.

Among the classified assortment of innovations are the worlds smallest chaton rose, a brilliant new chaton and a handful of exclusive colors and coatings that explore an inky, oil slick-like color palette with the likes of Dark Indigo, Crystal Peacock Green and Radiance, a highly saturated new coating suitable for lost-wax casting. This season, expect ugly-pretty post internet fusions and bejeweled tech starkly offset by carefully curated minimalism, in which crystals will continue to play a leading role.
